

UK companies are losing out...

You could be reclaiming up to 25% of your R&D costs.

LIBCUS can help you maximise your claim.

Knowing whether you are eligible to claim for R&D can be confusing. If you can answer YES to any of the following questions, call us today for a 'no obligation' conversation regarding your potential R&D claim.

1. Have you overcome technical challenges by developing new products and processes or improving your existing ones?
2. Have you improved the way your products are manufactured?
3. Are you combining two or more existing technologies in a unique way?
4. Have you made technological improvements to an existing system?
5. Have you had any software developed specifically for your manufacturing or distribution process?
6. Are you trying to make something better, cheaper, faster or more efficient?
7. Have you undertaken testing?

Did you know?

Even if you have capitalised your R&D expenditure, you may be able to claim.

Failed and abortive projects and loss-making businesses can still be eligible.

The scheme is more generous for SMEs. Large companies can also make a claim under the RDEC scheme.
